Steven McDonald is an NYPD detective who was shot on July 12, 1986. The shooting left him quadriplegic. He is the most seriously injured New York City Police officer to survive his injuries. McDonald was shot in the line of duty by three bullets fired by 15 year old Shavod Jones whom he was questioning about bicycle thefts in Central Park, New York City. Jones served a brief time in prison for the shooting and was killed in a motorcycle accident after his release. One of the bullets that hit Steven McDonald shattered his spine, paralyzing him from the neck down and leaving him quadriplegic.

Matthew Long in his own words. For my entire life, I have been a competitive athlete. Suddenly, in December of 2005, my entire life was derailed. I was struck, and consequently run over, by a bus during the mass transit strike in NYC. Life was uncertain for many days, weeks and months. With the love and support of my family and friends, coupled with my will and faith, I survived an almost certain fatality. When I stopped listing all the things I wanted to do and started talking about those that I WILL accomplish, my outlook on life past-accident changed. Is it always perfect? No! However, with hard work and determination I will be an athlete again.
